One Point at Issue in Liquor

By evidence yesterday morning taken from the testimony of E. A. Stumpf, Jr. representing the Merchants' Cold Storage and Ice Company, it was shown that Kelly, during the period covered in the indictment, had bought 14,000 gallons of distilled water, while his records were alleged to have shown only 17,000 gallons of spirits handled during that time.

Borneo Romance Gives Richmond Woman Credit for Real Pocahontas Act.

Like another Pocahontas, Mrs. Mary Blair Rice Beebe, who won a reputation of being one of the most beautiful girls in Virginia, saved her history of birds at the Bronx Zoo, New York City, from death at the hands of the "head hunters" in the wilds of Borneo Mrs. Beebe, it is said, was formerly Miss Mary Blair Rice, of Richmond, but inquiry last night failed to give any additional information concerning her identity.

According to reports from New York, she married the scientist in Virginia in 1902.

The story of Curator Beebe and his wife, which was made public after their arrival in New York, reads like a chapter of the wildest adventure. In far away Sarawak, an island off the coast of British North Borneo, Mr, and Mrs. Beebe were in pursuit of ornithology at sunrise. They were picked up by the wild men and carried around the mountain to the village occupied by the tribe. Seated beside a pile of skulls, pressumed to have been the remains of other victims, was the chief of the savages, which evidently was the sign for the execution of the curator, was about to be carried out, when Mrs. Beebe were her husband and the threatening spear. Her beauty, dazzling in the morning light, so fascinated the chief that he directed the death sentence be canded the coast of British North Borneo, Mr. and Mrs. Beebe were in pursuit of ornithology at sunrise.
